During the month of April, the kindergarten BSI students worked on the following skills: phonemic awareness rhyme, syllable segmentation, phoneme segmentation and initial & final sounds. Students reviewed the terms consonant and vowel. The digraphs sh, ch, th, & wh were reviewed, along with the sounds they make and vocabulary pictures that coordinate with each digraph sound. Also, welded sounds were reviewed: am, an, all, ang, ing, ong, ung, ank, ink, onk, & unk. A variety of multi-sensory activities using Orton Gillingham and Project Read strategies were used. The sight words there, came, of, by, don't, because, not, what, & new were introduced. There are three groups in reading in level A, five groups in reading level B, and two groups in reading level C and one group in level D. These were the groupings as of the last day of in-person instruction.

On site schooling ceased after March 16, 2020 due to COVID-19. Remote teaching was implemented to continue student learning. On-line videos and other resources were posted to the BSI teachers' websites. In addition, a daily newsletter is distributed via email to all BSI families. The newsletter contains a guided reading book, word work activities, and numerous links to educational websites each day. Virtual hours are available for parents every Tuesday and Thursday from 1:00-2:00 pm.

The designated Basic Skills program, Fountas & Pinnell's Leveled Literacy Intervention, has been adjusted to follow a more formulaic Guided Reading approach. Prior to school closure, BSI teachers continue working hard to develop and deliver lessons that follow this format, incorporating elements of the Fountas & Pinnell's LLI program with elements of the Fountas & Pinnell's Literacy Continuum.

| ELA: In April, Ms. Meehan began Unit 4, Evolving within to Overcome Adversity unit. The students are currently reading the novel Freak the Mighty . They are working on inferences, character traits, foreshadowing, symbolism, context clues/vocab, author's purpose, while annotating the text. The students also spent a couple class blocks learning about the Legend of King Arthur, since it is referenced several times in the text. They also have been discussing the main characters disabilities and how they are overcoming adversity in their own way throughout the text. Students hand in a read log and annotating sheet at the end of each week. |
| They also completed online and paper sample NJSLA tests. |
| Writing: In April, Ms. Meehan began prep for NJSLA testing. Students wrote literary analysis and Narrative essays. Students looked at students' samples and used the PARCC rubric to discuss and score student sample essays. They looked closely at and unpacked the rubric for the NJSLA essays. Students complete paper and computer based samples. |
| They also began the Poetry unit. They used several Flocabulary videos to discuss what poetry is defined as, rhyme and rhythm, and figurative language. Students looked at and analyzed songs and poems and identified elements of figurative language and discussed figurative meanings. Students will eventually be writing their own cinquains, haikus, and free verse poems. |
| ELA: The students are really enjoying Freak the Mighty and look forward to coming in to class each day and reading. They have also become interested in the medical condition the one main character suffers from and have been doing some research to get more information. |
| Writing: Students are really enjoying watching the Flocabulary videos in class and analyzing songs they enjoy. |

In Integrated Algebra 1, explorations involving data analysis were of concern. Students learned how to analyze surveys and samples, use measures of central tendency and dispersion, and how to interpret stem-and-leaf plots, histograms, and box-and-whisker plots. Currently, students have begun their last new unit on probability. As always, several graphing calculator activities were used to analyze data.

Graphing Calculator Explorations are of constant interest and a great way of explaining challenging concepts.
